DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 16 October 2008 has been entered.

Election/Restrictions

2. Claims 13-22 and 24 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in the reply filed on 18 January 2005.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claim 32 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim 32 depends from itself, and the scope of the claim cannot be readily determined. For purposes of examination, claim 32 is considered dependent from claim 31.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.
5. Claims 23, and 25-32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Manfredi et al, 5,785,585 in view of Mitsui et al, 6,312,324. '585, see column 5, lines 1-4, 10-12 and 41-43, discloses the claimed invention, except for the plastic being a synthetic plastic; the abrasive particles being affixed with electroplated metal, the metal being nickel; or the carrier affixed to the bottom surface of the substrate by mechanical fasteners. Regarding the use of a synthetic plastic, in disclosing that a plastic may be used, it is the examiner's position that '585 discloses that any plastic, including synthetic plastics may be used. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have provided '585 with a synthetic plastic, since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416. Regarding the use of electroplated metal, or nickel, '324 teaches that it is old and well known to make a conditioner which includes a carrier, and a substrate, the substrate including diamond abrasive in a nickel plating layer. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have provided '585, that broadly discloses a metal to hold the diamond abrasive, with an electroplated metal or nickel, as taught by '324, as to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416. Regarding the use of mechanical fasteners, the examiner takes Official notice as to the equivalency of adhesive and mechanical fasteners to attach one structure to another, and one of ordinary skill in the art would have considered it obvious to have provided '585 with mechanical fasteners to affix the substrate to the carrier.

6. Claims 1-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Manfredi et al, 5,785,585 in view of Sung, 6,679,243. '585 does not disclose or teach the matrix material comprising a brazing alloy, which further comprises at least one of chromium, tungsten, cobalt, titanium, zinc, iron, manganese or silicon, or that the brazing alloy is aluminum, boron, carbon or silicon, with the abrasive is cubic boron nitride or aluminum oxide; or the disk comprising a corrosion resistant powder from 40% to 98% by weight of the matrix material.. '243, column 13, lines 36-39, teaches using a brazing alloy with diamond abrasive, the alloy containing chromium, manganese, or silicon as a carbide precursor, column 20, lines 31-48, the silicon carbide being corrosion resistant, and 50% by weight of the alloy. '243 further teaches that dependent on tool use, other abrasives, such as cubic boron nitride can be used. Because both references teach abrasive bonded to supports by a matrix, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have substituted the materials taught by '243 for those of '585, for the predictable result of strongly bonding the abrasive to the support. It has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416. Regarding the use of aluminum oxide as an abrasive, in the Office action of 15 April 2005, the examiner took Official notice that the use of aluminum oxide, an old and well known abrasive, would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill. Applicant did not traverse in the response filed 15 July 2005. In accordance with MPEP 2144.03, the use of aluminum oxide is therefore admitted as prior art.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-12, 23 and 25-32 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
